Communication, Education, and Public Awareness (CEPA) is one of the core components of the Tamaraw Conservation Program. Through effective implementation of CEPA activities, we hope to spread information and data about the tamaraw and solicit support for the conservation of the critically endangered and endemic tamaraws. The recent CEPA activities of TCP have forged partnerships and collaborations with individuals and organizations that are now involved in the advocacy towards biodiversity conservation and the tamaraws. We intend to nurture these partnerships and collaborations and establish more connections through effective communication and sharing of information regarding tamaraws and its conservation.

In relation to the memorandum from the DENR Secretary dated April 25, 2023 with the subject "Release of Statements or Press Releases Concerning the Department's Plans, Programs, and Policy Direction", the undersigned, in behalf of the TCP, respectfully requests for permission to release information and/or statements regarding tamaraw and tamaraw conservation to the press, media, social media, and other concerned groups and personalities.

For your information, record approval.
