Dear WRUS Teams,

Thank you to the regions that regularly send in their outputs. We are now compiling all these to come up with the nationwide dataset. We are already 7 months into 2024 and only have 5 months left to reach our target outputs. Remember our most important KPI is how many people we helped to gain access to potable water.

A few reminders to further streamline our work:

1. Water sources such as wells used solely for individual household use are not required to secure water rights from NWRB. While this data is good, it should be of less priority than other WRUS tasks.
2. For DPWH water supply projects, note that we want to help them use the infrastructure by facilitating the necessary clearances/permits and setting up a local barangay enterprise. This means all users must pay for water and a designated group should collect these payments. From experience, barangays would charge P5-10 per 5 gallon container of drinking water. each barangay that we help means we can count the population that have gained access to water (our KPI).
3. There is another round of water supply grants (P900M total) this time through DILG. List attached. For this, our role is to identify a viable source of water (priority would be springs, then deep well or rivers that can be treated) in their area. Last option this time will be deep wells.
4. Less priority but if you are in the area, we need more information about our proposed water infrastructure convergence with DPWH. List of proposed dams, and man-made lakes attached.

Keep up the good work and let me know if you have any further questions. Thanks.
